

HARRIMAN NATIONAL BANKFifth Avenue and 44th Street
NEW YORKAre You Moving?

The present day removal activities in New York, the feature of which is the transfer of so much business from downtown to uptown, would amount to a phenomenon were not the reasons so well understood.

These reasons are, primarily, the influx and increase of population; the rise in rents downtown; the crowding out of small space holders to meet the demands of big business; last and by no means least, not only the accessibility of the Fifth Avenue section of the Terminal zone from all points of the compass, but the attractiveness of the neighborhood itself.

The buildings are new and handsome, there is light and air, and scarcely a field of trade or professional activity that does not speedily find itself at home in this neighborhood and in its own element. Even the lawyers are forsaking their time-honored precincts without inconvenience either to themselves or their clients.

The Harriman National Bank would like to remind the newcomers in this neighborhood that it is a most desirable thing from every standpoint to transact as much business as they can with the neighborhood in which they are doing business, thereby increasing the value of the neighborhood and thus best serving their own interests.

The economic convenience of banking near by, particularly when such additional conveniences are offered as our extended hours of business for bank and Safe Deposit Vaults, speaks for itself.

BANKING HOURS FROM 8 O'CLOCK A. M. TO 8 O'CLOCK P. M.
SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS OPEN FROM 8 A. M. TO MIDNIGHT

Gov. Calvin Coolidge

Says:

"Do the day's work. If it be to protect the rights of the weak; whoever objects, do it. If it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition, do that. Expect to be called a standpatter, but don't be a standpatter. Expect to be called a demagogue, but don't be a demagogue. Don't hesitate to be as revolutionary as science. Don't hesitate to be as reactionary as the multiplication table."

Unmistakably Different

Impeccable taste, as well as pronounced individuality, distinguishes Sextet style. The break between the front fender and the running board is strikingly distinctive, and the long, tapering hood, with many tall, narrow louvers to accentuate bonnet height, is both graceful and symbolic of the speed for which National cars have ever been respected.

A demonstration will convince you that Sextet power is as perfect as Sextet style. May we send one of our cars to your office or home?

FAVORITE SONS IN VERMONT AND WEST VIRGINIA

Coolidge in Green Mountain State and Sutherland in the Panhandle.

LOWDEN LOOMS STRONG

Wood and Hoover Run Well; Democrats Talk Bryan, McAdoo and Davis.

VERMONT WEST VIRGINIA

Both Vermont and West Virginia have "favorite sons" for the Republican Presidential nomination, as indicated by the polls of the county chairmen in those States by THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD, the results of which are presented below.

In the Green Mountain State Gov. Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, who was born in Plymouth, Vt., is the first choice. Major Gen. Leonard Wood is the second choice.

United States Senator Howard Sutherland of Elkins, West Virginia, is first choice of the Republicans of that State, according to the county chairmen. The second choice is Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

Sentiment for Herbert Hoover is said to be on the increase among the people in both States in last minute reports from special correspondents of THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

Both States have Presidential primaries—Vermont on May 18 and West Virginia on May 25. The last day for filing in the former State is April 26 and in the latter April 25.

The eight delegates to the Chicago national convention from Vermont are chosen at a State convention, which must be held within three weeks of the primary. A statement of the result of the Presidential primary is certified to the delegates when elected by the convention, but it is not legally binding upon them, being no stronger than a moral obligation.

West Virginia has sixteen delegates in the national convention elected in the preferential primary. Candidates must say on the ballot whether or not they will be bound by the Presidential preference.

Coolidge Vermont Favorite.

In the Vermont poll Gov. Coolidge got two-thirds of all the first choice, the other third going to Wood. In the second choice column this ratio was just reversed between Coolidge and Wood. Although third choices were not called for on the poll blank a number of them were cast, being divided equally between Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois and Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

The percentages in the "first choice" column in West Virginia ran as follows: Sutherland, 48.5; Lowden, 26.6; Wood, 20; Harding, 6.6. There was greater range of sentiment in the "second choice" column, the percentages being divided among these candidates as follows: Wood, 26.6; Lowden, 20; Harding, 20; Johnson, 10; Coolidge, 6.6; Sutherland, 6.6; Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania, 6.6; Gen. John J. Pershing, 3.3.

Even the friends of Senator Sutherland acknowledge that the vote for him as a Presidential candidate will be merely complimentary. It may be his name will not be presented at all. There is no possibility that he will be seriously considered by other States, as there is in the cases of Gov. William C. Spruell of Pennsylvania and Gov. Coolidge of Massachusetts.

So it is interesting to see how the "first choice" percentages would stand if Sutherland were eliminated and the "second choice" votes, in case where he was first, should be made first choices. With this adjustment the "first choice" percentages would make Lowden a clear leader, with Gen. Wood coming in as second choice. The figures would be: Lowden, 40; Wood, 26.6; Harding, 20; Coolidge, 6.6; Pershing, 3.3; Knox, 3.3.

McAdoo and Bryan Favored.

According to the testimony of the Republican leaders William G. McAdoo seems to be the choice of the Vermont Democrats for the Presidential nomination. In West Virginia the Democrats want William Jennings Bryan, the Republicans say, although the Democratic organization has formally endorsed John W. Davis Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, by way of honoring a favorite son. Gov. John J. Cornwell of West Virginia also is a favorite for the nomination among the Democrats of that State.

In Vermont no single issue stands out in particularly bold relief, although the League of Nations, with its allied "Americanism" and "foreign relations" could fairly be said to be occupying most of the thought of Vermonters. They are also more or less troubled about Democratic extravagance, bringing on as it has excessive taxation. "Law and Order," the slogan of "Cal" Coolidge, as he is known there, is also a popular issue.

Like a lightning bolt on a promontory the League of Nations arises above all other issues in West Virginia. With it the leaders mention "Americanism versus internationalism." Old High Cost of Living is worrying them some in West Virginia, and it is natural therefore that they should look upon the extravagance and "general indifference" of the Wilson administration, with their reverse of an "economic conduct of the Government's business," as being leading issues for the coming campaign. The relations between capital and labor, frequently mentioned by the chairmen, is an issue indirectly related to the high cost of living.

On the theory that Coolidge will not be a candidate a canvass of Vermont has a pronounced sentiment for Wood, according to special correspondents.

"Old Guard" Favors Lowden.

"There are strong indications," the report of our readers, "that the 'Old Guard' here, which has controlled politics for years, is in favor of Lowden. It is not believed, however, that they can swing the popular sentiment in Lowden, although he has plenty of supporters among the conservatives."

"Within the last few days there has been a strong change of sentiment in favor of Hoover. It seems spontaneous and is found in strange places. So far no great effort has been made to crystallize it. In the opinion of many politicians he will be the choice of the people if any active campaign is conducted to special correspondents."

acted on his behalf. Prof. S. F. Emerson of the University of Vermont is one of his active champions.

"Wood has a good organization here in charge of Gen. Lee S. Tillison. None of the candidates for delegate has committed himself as yet, although Major H. Nelson Jackson will entertain the General when he visits Burlington."

Among others mentioned as delegates are Fred A. Howland of Montpelier, Robert Proctor of Proctor, Charles Dewey of Windsor, George E. Whitney of Burlington, Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, J. M. Thomas, president of Middlebury College, J. Gregory Smith of St. Albans, Frank Howe of Bennington and Alexander Dunnett, former United States Attorney, Split on McAdoo and Palmer.

The correspondent reports that the Democrats are divided in their allegiance between McAdoo and Palmer, although one of the chairmen says "most of the Democrats in Vermont are Republicans."

There were indications all the way through the West Virginia poll that Lowden was gaining strength, although special correspondents report that the Wood sentiment there is strong. One chairman who expressed the preference of his county as Wood first, Harding second, added: "Lowden growing fast."

Answering the question "Who seems to be the leading Democratic candidate in your county?" one Republican chairman wrote facetiously, "No one. They are all behind."

The departure from the government of "the Patrons" is strongly resented in West Virginia. Among the issues mentioned by the leaders there were: "A return to a sound American policy," "America for Americans only and all the time," "Government affairs to be conducted in a business way by a competent business man," "Method of handling strife between labor and capital."

Under the impression that Gov. Lowden will not file for the preference, following out his policy not to do so in any State that has a favorite son, the correspondent of THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD writes:

"Without taking into consideration what may be the outcome of the sudden departure of Hoover for the Republican Presidential nomination, which has brought to life almost over night a score of Hoover clubs, it is conceded by most Republican leaders here that Wood will be induced by the Republican voters of West Virginia in its Statewide primary."

"Senator Sutherland, who has been talked of as a possible 'favorite son' candidate, is the only Republican who has filed in West Virginia so far, if we take no account of William Grant Webster of New York city, who makes a specialty of filing for Presidential preference. He has filed for the Vice-Presidential preference in Vermont. Under Mr. Hoover's decision to go into

It is believed that Ambassador Davis will win the Democratic preference regardless of whom else may file against him.
